Coffee Maker:

The water from the sink is okay to drink.

Instructions

Open the lid and place the filter basket in the filter housing. Place a paper filter in the filter basket. Add a packet of ground coffee into the paper filter. Do not overfill it. Generally, you should use one packet of ground coffee per cup of coffee you want to brew. Fill the carafe with the required amount of water. The water level can be checked using the water level indicator on the carafe. Pour the water into the water tank using the carafe. The water level in the water tank can be checked using the water level indicator on the water tank. Close the lid. Place the carafe on the warming plate. Place the I/O button in the position I to switch the appliance on. The button will illuminate. During the brewing process, the carafe can be removed from the warming plate for a short period of time (less than 30 seconds) to pour coffee because of the drip stop. Do not remove the carafe for longer periods of time (more than 30 seconds), as the filter basket can overflow and cause injuries. Once the brewing process has finished, the coffee is kept warm using the warming plate until the appliance is switched off via the I/O button. After use, switch the appliance off by placing the I/O button in the 0 position. Disconnect the appliance from the outlet and allow to cool down completely. Clean the appliance. Dry all parts thoroughly after cleaning, before using, or before storing appliance. Ensure that no water enters the appliance housing. Clean the appliance and warming plate with a clean, slightly damp cloth. Clean the carafe and basket in hot, soapy water. The carafe and filter basket are also dishwasher safe. Clean all parts of the appliance before each use.

Where are the best view points for watching the sunrise and/or sunset?

There is no one best place for watching the sunrise or sunset, just good places and better places. Look for a viewpoint that juts into the canyon with views both east and west.

- On Hermit Road, which is accessible only shuttle bus, Hopi Point is unquestionably a desirable viewpoint for sunset, it attracts crowds of people and buses, especially in the summer.
- Also along Hermit Road, which is accessible only shuttle bus, Mohave and Pima Points offer spectacular views of the canyon, are less congested, and allow you to see the Colorado River a mile below!
- Points along Desert View Drive that offer great east and west panoramas include Yaki, Navajo, and Desert View.
- Lipan Point, near Desert View, offers incredible views of the canyon with the San Francisco Peaks to the south, the distant Painted Desert, and extensive stretches of the river below.
- For a memorable sunrise, try Mather or Yaki Points.

Which is Best: Sunrise or Sunset?

Sunrise: If the night has been calm and clear, sunrise may offer great clarity before breezes stir dust into the atmosphere. Colder morning temperatures and the difficulty of rising early frequently result in fewer people at canyon viewpoints.

Sunset: During the summer, viewpoints can be crowded. Late summer may bring dramatic thunderstorms, but too many clouds could mean no sunlight in the canyon. Just the right amount of dust or smoke can make a sunset more colorful.

What Can I Expect to See?

Predicting the quality of a sunset at Grand Canyon is as uncertain as predicting the weather. Air quality, clouds, the time of day, and the season will all contribute to your view. Early geologist Clarence Dutton observed that at sunset "the colossal buttes expand in every dimension." How do you visualize the changes of daybreak or sunset?

Changes in the position of the sun and variations in the sky transform colors, shadows, and shapes in the canyon. Storm clouds may break to reveal a sunlight flooded sky or perhaps a rainbow. John Wesley Powell described clouds playing in the canyon as if they were "the children of the heavens."

Thunderstorms are common in July, August, and early September.

An exposed, rocky point is not where you want to be during a thunderstorm. A gap of less than 30 seconds between the flash of lightning and the rumble of thunder indicates that it is time to retreat to shelter. Stay away from solitary or tall trees.

Colorado River, Grand Canyon NP

How Do I Get Out to the Viewpoints?

A good way to get from Grand Canyon Village out to the viewpoints is to use the park's shuttle bus system. It's free, convenient, and the drivers never get lost! Shuttle buses run from approximately one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset, and even later on the Village Loop (Blue Route). Park your vehicle and ride the free shuttle buses.

Kaibab Rim (Orange Route) provides service from the Visitor Center to Yavapai Point and geology museum, the South Kaibab Trailhead, and Yaki Point. This is the fastest way get from the Visitor Center out to canyon views.

Hermit Road (Red Route) offers outstanding scenic views along a 7.5 mile (12 km) road, and includes Maricopa, Powell, Hopi, Mohave and Pima points. Access to Hermit Road is by shuttle bus only from March 1 to November 30, or you can take a motorcoach tour. Catch the Hermit Road Shuttle at the Village Route/Hermit Route Transfer stop. (During winter months, December through February, Hermit Road is open to all vehicles, but may be temporarily closed due to snow.)

For points along Desert View Drive (Highway 64) heading east towards Desert View including Grandview, Moran, Lipan, Navajo, and Desert View Points you must drive your car, or take a motorcoach tour. It is 26 miles (42 km) from Grand Canyon Village to Desert View and takes about one hour of driving time.

Where are Facilities Available?

Restrooms: Restroom facilities are located at Yavapai and Desert View Points and the Visitor Center. Chemical toilets are placed at Hopi, Yaki, and Grandview Points.

Water: Water bottle filling stations can be found near: Hermit's Rest, Bright Angel Trailhead, Verkamp's Visitor Center, Yavapai Point, Grand Canyon Visitor Center, and the South Kaibab Trailhead. You should carry your own water, if you plan to spend some time at other viewpoints.

For Sunset

Plan to arrive at your viewpoint as much as 90 minutes before sunset and stay at least 10 minutes after the sun has set and no longer illuminates the buttes and pinnacles in the canyon. Don't rush off; the sky may light up red, pink, and orange. Better yet, stay around as the sky grows dark. Grand Canyon offers some of the blackest skies and brightest stars found anywhere.
